Many students have pocket money. How do they spend it? They spend it in different ways.

They spend their pocket money on studies. Many students buy books such as storybooks and exercise books. Although some of them are expensive, students still buy them because they are essential for their studies. Moreover, they often buy the stationery such as pens and pencils.

Besides spending on studies, they also spend money on games and hobbies. Some students always buy toys such as computer games and models. I think students should not spend all the money on toys because they are not practical. In addition, some students like collecting things such as coins and stamps. They like to buy the things they want to collect.

Furthermore, students always buy food and drink. They buy fast food such as hamburgers and French fries. They buy snacks too. Students like to eat them. Although they are unhealthy, they are delicious.

In addition, some students just spend their money whenever they want. This situation is common in Hong Kong because some parents spoil their child and give them lots of money. Also, some students just follow the trend and they become greedy.

To sum up, I think we should save money and spend it wisely.

Many students have pocket money. How do they spend it?

Many students spend their money on playing games and hobbies. They always buy computer games and comic books. They will be indulged if they always play games and read comic books. They will waste time and money. Their learning will be affected too.

Lots of students spend their money on buying junk food like potato chips, chocolates and sweets. This is unhealthy for them.

However, some students spend their money on buying kids’ magazines. These kinds of magazines can help them to learn more knowledge and vocabularies.

Spending Pocket Money

Many students have pocket money. How do they spend it?

Some of the students spend pocket money because of their studies especially at the beginning of a school term. Many students need to buy books, such us, storybooks, exercise books and textbooks.

Some of the students spend their money on games and their hobbies. They like playing computer games. Therefore, when they get their pocket money, they spend the money to buy some electronic games.

Some other students spend their money on food and drinks. Some students like fast food and snacks, so they spend their pocket money on food or drinks that they like most.

Although students spend their pocket money in different ways. I think we should save our pocket money because saving is a good habit. If we always spend all our pocket money, we will waste the money to buy things that we do not need.
